Subject Index

ADVERTISING

Abstract Number

61 The woman's suffrage press, 1850-1900: a cultural analysis. Linda Claire Steiner, Ph.D., University of Illinois.

85 The in-house advertising department in the small business: a study of several Missoula, Montana, variations. Lorretta C. Lynde Breslin, M.A., University of Montana.

108 Designing evaluation tools to determine effectiveness of dental health care advertising campaign. Judy Winnell DeHaas, M.A., Ball State University.

115 A cognitive-developmental analysis of children's comprehension of persuasive strategies in advertising. Rebecca M. English, M.A., University of Utah.

155 Advertising and Media attention: a reassessment of the fifty-plus age market segment. Linda M. Jekel, M.S., San Jose State University.

156 The elderly consumer and advertising: a study of recall accuracy. Linda B. Jennings, M.A., University of Georgia.

200 Designation of newspapers for public notice advertising. Kirk D. Martin, M.A., University of Georgia.

212 Professional accreditation for advertising practitioners. Kermit William Meister, M.A., University of Texas.

220 Children can learn beneficial, factual information from advertising. Harriet Lisa Neal, M.A., University of South Carolina.

244 Effects of rate increases on demand for newspaper advertising space: 1972-1977. Sanford M. Roberts, III., M.A., University of Georgia.

294 More of the same: a plan for writing to a target audience using a pastiche based on the macabre fantasies of H. P. Lovecraft as a model. S. David Williamson, M.S., University of Tennessee

See also Abstracts 93, 98, 101, 217, 258

AUDIENCE ANALYSIS

38 Motivation and children's learning from television. Guy E. Lometti, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

Abstract Number

55 Using attitudes and subjective norms to predict newspaper reading behavior: a test of the fishbein behavioral intention model. Paula Maurie Poindexter, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

67 Newspaper research in two New England counties: some demographic and uses-and-gratifications variables. Wayne Michael Towers, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

90 The audience for religious television programs. Judith M. Buddenbaum, M.A., Indiana University.

102 Attitudes toward public relations education: a survey of Southern California public relations practitioners. Barbara J. Cooper, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

110 Effects of viewing time and identification with television characters on reading comprehension. Enza Troiani Dunbar, M.A., University of Florida.

113 Involvement in news events and the knowledge gap hypothesis. Christopher G. Egueke, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

123 An analysis of nutrition information source use and evaluation. Chow-Kam Foo, M.S., Iowa State University.

125 An exploratory analysis of factors influencing children's interests in magazine article ideas and layouts. Joseph Stephen Fowler, M.A., University of Texas.

170 A school page and its adult readers: a readership study of Times-Plain Dealer subscribers. Gary R. Koppenhaver, M.S., Iowa State University.

177 A study of reader attitudes toward satirical newspaper columns. William Aidan Lancaster, M.A., Michigan State University.

184 An attitude segmentation study of the youth market's perception of the ideal newspaper. Eileen Lehnert, M.A., Michigan State University.

215 Mass Media influence on first-time mothers. Jean Flippin Moffatt, M.A., Texas Tech University.

222 The use of storytelling technique to increase reader interest in nonfiction writing. Benton R. Patterson, M.A., East Texas State University.

Subject Index

ADVERTISING

Abstract Number

61 The woman's suffrage press, 1850-1900: a cultural analysis. Linda Claire Steiner, Ph.D., University of Illinois.

85 The in-house advertising department in the small business: a study of several Missoula, Montana, variations. Lorretta C. Lynde Breslin, M.A., University of Montana.

108 Designing evaluation tools to determine effectiveness of dental health care advertising campaign. Judy Winnell DeHaas, M.A., Ball State University.

115 A cognitive-developmental analysis of children's comprehension of persuasive strategies in advertising. Rebecca M. English, M.A., University of Utah.

155 Advertising and Media attention: a reassessment of the fifty-plus age market segment. Linda M. Jekel, M.S., San Jose State University.

156 The elderly consumer and advertising: a study of recall accuracy. Linda B. Jennings, M.A., University of Georgia.

200 Designation of newspapers for public notice advertising. Kirk D. Martin, M.A., University of Georgia.

212 Professional accreditation for advertising practitioners. Kermit William Meister, M.A., University of Texas.

220 Children can learn beneficial, factual information from advertising. Harriet Lisa Neal, M.A., University of South Carolina.

244 Effects of rate increases on demand for newspaper advertising space: 1972-1977. Sanford M. Roberts, III., M.A., University of Georgia.

294 More of the same: a plan for writing to a target audience using a pastiche based on the macabre fantasies of H. P. Lovecraft as a model. S. David Williamson, M.S., University of Tennessee

See also Abstracts 93, 98, 101, 217, 258

AUDIENCE ANALYSIS

38 Motivation and children's learning from television. Guy E. Lometti, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

Abstract Number

55 Using attitudes and subjective norms to predict newspaper reading behavior: a test of the fishbein behavioral intention model. Paula Maurie Poindexter, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

67 Newspaper research in two New England counties: some demographic and uses-and-gratifications variables. Wayne Michael Towers, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

90 The audience for religious television programs. Judith M. Buddenbaum, M.A., Indiana University.

102 Attitudes toward public relations education: a survey of Southern California public relations practitioners. Barbara J. Cooper, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

110 Effects of viewing time and identification with television characters on reading comprehension. Enza Troiani Dunbar, M.A., University of Florida.

113 Involvement in news events and the knowledge gap hypothesis. Christopher G. Egueke, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

123 An analysis of nutrition information source use and evaluation. Chow-Kam Foo, M.S., Iowa State University.

125 An exploratory analysis of factors influencing children's interests in magazine article ideas and layouts. Joseph Stephen Fowler, M.A., University of Texas.

170 A school page and its adult readers: a readership study of Times-Plain Dealer subscribers. Gary R. Koppenhaver, M.S., Iowa State University.

177 A study of reader attitudes toward satirical newspaper columns. William Aidan Lancaster, M.A., Michigan State University.

184 An attitude segmentation study of the youth market's perception of the ideal newspaper. Eileen Lehnert, M.A., Michigan State University.

215 Mass Media influence on first-time mothers. Jean Flippin Moffatt, M.A., Texas Tech University.

222 The use of storytelling technique to increase reader interest in nonfiction writing. Benton R. Patterson, M.A., East Texas State University.

Abstract
Number

251 The media: utilization patterns and perceptions by seniors. Louise Currier Huntoon Schaefer, M.S., San Jose State University.

263 Dimensions of local interest and new subscriber stability. Willits Avery Smull, M.A., University of Washington.

265 Fringe area television news ratings: a study of the television news viewing habits of Muncie, Indiana, residents. Stanley Howard Sollars, M.A., Ball State University.

282 Television and family viewing: an ethnography. Paul John Traudt, M.A., University of Utah.

297 Effects of two newspaper conversions from afternoon to morning publication. Gary Yribarren, M.A., University of Nevada.

See also Abstracts 3, 6, 14, 15, 21, 32, 61, 63, 79, 120, 155, 156, 183, 191, 194, 205, 220, 223, 226, 232, 233, 241, 259, 275, 295, 298, 299

COMMUNICATION AND NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

3 Mass media use and political orientation among residents of two Latin American squatter settlements. Frederick Vincent Bales, Ph.D., The University of Texas.

7 Communication, rural modernity and structural constraints. Eduardo Contreras-Budge, Ph.D., Stanford University.

26 Mass communication and economic Nationalism in a developing urban society. Andre Hardjana, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

27 The role of the telephone in economic development. Andrew Peter Hardy, Ph.D., Stanford University.

49 The role of the multinational corporation in the transfer of manufacturing technology: the Mexican case. Walter L. Owensby, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

269 The humanistic alternative: implications of the humanistic ideas of Jurgen Habermas, Raymond Williams, and James Carey for communication and change in Sierra Leone. Tom Jonathan Spencer-Walters, M.A., University of Washington.

See also Abstracts 23, 40, 46, 62, 151, 154, 162, 270

COMMUNICATION THEORY, PROCESS & EFFECTS

Abstract
Number

12 The ideas of Paulo Freire on communication and culture. Venicio Artur de Lima, Ph.D., University of Illinois.

14 Time frame in agenda-setting research: a study of the conceptual and methodological factors affecting the time frame context of the agenda-setting process. Chaim Hirschmann Eyal, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

15 Media learning and adolescent developmental tasks: where you are is what you get. Ronald J. Faber, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

17 Patterns of attending within and between messages. Lisa Ann Fortini-Campbell, Ph.D., University of Washington.

21 Case studies in implicit communication: a Q-methodological approach. Michael Jay Gottesman, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

22 An information processing approach to uses and gratifications. Robert J. Griffin, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

23 Cognition and communication in change situations. Reynaldo Valendez Guioguio, Ph.D., University of Washington.

25 A functional analysis of the nonverbal interpersonal communication of selected schizophrenics and normals. Sally Brosz Hardin, Ph.D., University of Illinois.

30 The effect of theme function, theme type, and focusing strategies on message comprehension, recall accuracy, and uncertainty reduction. Thomas Jerry Housel, Ph.D., University of Utah.

37 An analytic model for assessing the information orientation and behavior of scientists and engineers. Georg Neil Lindsey, Ph.D., Stanford University.

38 Motivation and children's learning from television. Guy E. Lometti, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

42 Role conflict for the preacher: a study in communication and religion. Thomas J. Mickey, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

45 Values in science: a study in operant subjectivity. Alexander Nesterenko, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

Abstract Number

50 Toward a communication theory of organization. Michael Eugene Pacanowsky, PH.D., Stanford University.

57 Positive critical incidents in group psychotherapy: a communicational analysis. Sharon L. Scandrett, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

80 The dimension of "distance" in newspaper language. David Ben-Nahum, M.A., University of Kentucky.

107 Role perception and channel preference in a community general hospital. Julie Wandell Dawson, M.A., University of Florida.

120 The role of interpersonal communication in determining media consumption. Cathy R. Ferrand, M.A., University of South Carolina.

152 The effect of textual redundancy on the readability and comprehension of news-type material. Elizabeth Murphy Jackson, M.A., University of Maryland.

221 Students knowledge of youth employment rights after exposure to a communication medium. Bette Nowacki, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

232 Time and Communication. Jim Protzman, M.A., University of North Carolina.

239 The news and ideology: their effect on the holding and structure of political attitudes. Stephen Dee Reese, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

249 Descriptive organizational analysis in the formation of a communication strategy for rural cooperative parish development: a journalistic case study. James Richard Sayers, M.S., Iowa State University.

252 The public sphere in society: a comparative analysis of John Dewey's and Jurgen Habermas' concept of the public. Rudiger Scheidges, M.A., University of Iowa.

257 The relationship of occupation to television usage and gratifications. Myra A. Shugerman, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

273 Construction of ideas during conversation. Michael A. Stanton, M.A., University of Washington.

275 The agenda-setting function of newspapers: a path analysis using individual-level measures. Timothy E. Stehle, M.A., Indiana University.

298 Re-assessing selective exposure through contingency analysis. Dean A. Ziemke, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

Abstract Number

299 Children's consumer information processing: the development and training of product choice strategies and information use. Jacob Shamir, Ph.D., University of Minnesota.

300 An examination of the behavioral outcomes of social learning from television among second, fifth, and eighth graders. Sara Shemer, Ph.D., University of Minnesota.

See also Abstracts 4, 7, 10, 26, 32, 34, 40, 55, 67, 104, 110, 113, 123, 130, 159, 172, 193, 204, 215, 223, 269, 271, 279, 281, 282, 291, 293

COMMUNICATOR ANALYSIS

20 The video display terminal and the copy editor: a case study of electronic editing at the Milwaukee Journal. Martin Bruce Garrison, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

79 The patterns of reader and editor interest in sports news and coverage of sports news by a daily newspaper: A systematic study of sports pages staff and sports news readers of the (Lansing) State Journal. Elise Christine Bates, M.A., Michigan State University.

145 Attitudes of Ohio newspaper editors toward agricultural news in general and their handling of agricultural news from a specific source--the weekly extension/OARDC news packet. Eugene Paul Hettel, M.A., The Ohio State University.

181 The coverage of consumer affairs news by Michigan's daily newspapers and attitudes and opinions toward the coverage among the gatekeepers and consumer leaders: a systemic study. Linda Lawson, M.A., Michigan State University.

206 Pete Oppel: following the beat of different drummers. Sheila Kathleen McLin, M.A., East Texas State University.

207 Film criticism in the U.S. print media: a survey of reviewers and critics in newspapers and magazines. Diane K. McNutt, M.S., San Jose State University.

259 The nature and pattern of usage of theatre criticism and the communication role of the theatre critic: a systematic communication study of a theatre audience. Rosanne Singer, M.A., Michigan State University.

261 Dick Mackey and the Kings: A sports-writer's coverage of a professional basketball team. Bruce D. Sloan, M.A., Central Missouri State University.

Abstract Number

271 Women in Communications, Inc.: Members' attitudes on the social responsibility of the press. Gloria Ann Stackpole, M.A., University of Texas at Austin.

See also Abstracts 41, 43, 52, 63, 69, 83, 91, 103, 109, 119, 121, 122, 134, 139, 143, 153, 154, 165, 170, 178, 180, 201, 228, 258, 266, 268, 278

COMMUNITY JOURNALISM

137 Sports readership study of the Mitchell County Press-News. Steven R. Hanson, M.S., Iowa State University.

See also Abstracts 8, 81, 170, 200, 247

CONTENT ANALYSIS

5 America's aged: a sociological approach to newspaper coverage. Michael Oran Buchholz, Ph.D., Oklahoma State University.

39 Theoretical change and newspaper content: the Diocesan Press and Vatican II. Dennis John Mahon, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

74 A content analysis of the educational news stories published in the 1979 Des Moines Register. Kaylene Savage Baker, M.S., Iowa State University.

95 News coverage of white collar crime: an exploratory study. Eugene E. Charleton, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

118 Impressions of Newport: a content analysis of the coverage of an American jazz festival in six publications between 1954 and 1978. Mitchell Evan Feldman, M.A., University of Georgia.

126 A comparative content analysis of the Lewisville News-Advertiser and Lewisville Daily Leader. Colleen Doolin Frerichs, M.J., North Texas State University.

147 Print coverage of military conflict: the Los Angeles Times and the Vietnam War (a content analysis, 1964-1972). Richard Paul Holk, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

150 A content analysis of press coverage of the 1975-1976 Lebanese civil war by The New York Times and The Times of London. Samir Husni, M.A., North Texas State University.

154 A study of Sunday comic sections in seven California dailies: 1965 and 1975. Stephen Jeffries, M.S., San Jose State University.

Abstract Number

164 Content analysis of selected alumni newspapers: editorial policy. Mary Kay Kelly, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

165 A comparative content analysis: the coverage of the fifth non-aligned conference by Associated Press and the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug. Andjela Loncaric Kessler, M.A., University of Georgia.

201 An analysis of future-oriented content in selected U.S. metropolitan daily newspapers. Harold May, M.A., University of Mississippi.

228 A content analysis of medical news in four metropolitan dailies. Diane Starr Petryk, M.A., Michigan State University.

258 A content analysis of product mentions in modern and traditional women's news sections. Betsy Jarmon Simnacher, M.A., University of Texas.

292 Los Angeles Times and New York Times, 1950-1958 and 1970-1978: did alcohol-related coverage change? Patricia A. Whatley, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

See also Abstracts 1, 2, 8, 9, 20, 24, 29, 77, 79, 99, 157, 158, 161, 166, 167, 173, 174, 188, 202, 206, 217, 240, 243, 247, 256, 260, 276, 283, 288, 291, 294, 300

COURTS & LAW OF THE PRESS (MEDIA)

13 Toward an integrated model for assessing compliance with federal circuit court decisions: prior restraint in public schools. Thomas E. Eveslage, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

33 Justice William O. Douglas on Freedom of the Press. Harry L. Kennedy, Jr., Ph.D., Ohio University.

51 The qualified absolute: Alexander Meiklejohn and freedom of speech. Mack Redburn Palmer, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

71 Prologue to a farce or a tragedy: a psychometric study of supreme court attitudes toward the press, 1971-1978. Richard Gordon Alm, M.S., University of Kansas.

72 The press in juvenile court: a study of federal and state access policies. Kathleen M. Anderson, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

88 The press and Nevada's access to public records law. Lisa M. Bruk, M.A., University of Nevada.

Abstract Number

89 The actual malice rule: from New York Times v. Sullivan through Herbert v. Lando. Kimberly Ann Bruyn, M.S., University of Kansas.

103 The effect of Zurcher v. Stanford Daily on the Nevada shield law. Steven A. Coulter, M.A., University of Nevada.

131 The 1974 amendments to the freedom of information act: legislative intent vs. executive implementation and judicial interpretation. Douglas Edward Gordon, M.A., University of Georgia.

143 Forgive us our trespasses: news-gathering on private property. Hunt Helm, M.A., Indiana University.

218 Citizen Committee v. FCC: WGKA, Precedent format change case. Neil Dennis Mullin, M.A., University of Georgia.

242 Free press/fair trial: the aftermath of Gannett v. Depasquale. Cynthia L. Rider, M.S., University of Kansas.

248 The use of pretrial discovery in libel. Marcus R. Sani, M.A., University of Maryland.

See also Abstracts 54, 186, 198, 199, 236

CRITICISM & DEFENSE OF THE PRESS (MEDIA)

83 Newspaper accountability in Mississippi: a study of patterns of accountability among editors and reporters of Mississippi daily newspapers. Allyn Clark Boone, M.A., University of Mississippi.

209 Press coverage of the Reverend Jim Jones and the Peoples Temple. Monica Medina, M.A., University of Maryland.

See also Abstracts 5, 138, 168, 182, 196

CROSS-NATIONAL STUDIES

29 National differences in the press coverage of the Lebanese civil war. Nishan Rafi Havandjian, Ph.D., University of Texas.

32 Public affairs informational status attainment models in three nations: Peru, Venezuela and the United States. S. Ellen Williamson Kanervo, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

98 Exposure to and attitudes of foreign students at North Texas State University toward American advertising. O Jerru Chung, M.A., North Texas State University.

Abstract Number

99 Agence France-Presse coverage of the United States: a study in international news flow. Frederic Marie Cochard, M.A., Syracuse University.

175 The broadcast media in the People's Republic of China: their treatment of the U.S. before and after the Sino-American Detente. Clara Hong Lam, M.A., Central Missouri State University.

187 Coverage of the Chinese-Vietnamese War (February 17, 1979 to March 5, 1979): American newspapers vs. Chinese newspapers. Ruey-Feng Shieh Li, M.A., University of Georgia.

216 The English-language daily newspapers of Europe: five examples of the expatriate press. John Wayne Mogielnicki, M.A., University of Texas.

256 The Andrew Young affair: a descriptive evaluation of newspaper performance in Nigeria, Israel, and the United States. Fola M. Shokunbi, M.S., San Jose State University.

260 Media coverage of the Lebanese Civil War. Abdul Karim Sinno, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

284 Communication patterns in the transfer of agricultural technology to third world countries. Andrew Burdine Walker, M.A.J., University of Georgia.

287 The favorable and unfavorable attitudes of segments of the American press toward Communist China and the Republic of China before and after President Nixon's visit to Peking in 1972. Wen-Rang Wang, M.A., University of Georgia.

See also Abstracts 31, 69, 150, 165, 183, 227, 269, 270.

EDITORIAL POLICY & METHODS

138 The press, race, and society: American daily newspaper editorials on the Jonestown, Guyana, tragedy. Frank Harris, III, M.A., University of Texas.

See also Abstracts 1, 2, 52, 74, 76, 95, 106, 126, 147, 164, 174, 181, 278, 288, 296.

EDUCATION FOR JOURNALISM

4 A generalized computer-based audio-visual authorship system to support design, construction, and maintenance of audio-digital instructional products for interactive computing. Janice M. Bleil, Ph.D., Stanford University.

6 An assessment of attitude patterns of selected persons in two Iowa school communities toward the school newspaper: a Q-methodological approach. John Marvin Butler, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

Abstract Number

18 Journalism career preparation: opinions of selected newspaper editors versus those of heads of ACEJ-accredited news-editorial journalism sequences. Haskell O. Gaddis, Ed.D., Oklahoma State University.

28 The newspaper firm: a computer simulation approach. Joseph McGarvey Harper, Ph.D., University of Texas.

43 The training of science news reporters. Roger Allen Myers, Ph.D., The Ohio State University.

54 The faculty and the first amendment: an investigation of teachers' out-of class freedom of expression and association. Bruce Loren Plopper, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

56 A comparison of production costs of college newspapers. Frank A. Ragulsky, Ed.D., Oklahoma State University.

69 The national council for the training of journalists: twenty-five years of progress and problems. John Dryburgh Wright, Ph.D., University of Texas.

102 Attitudes toward public relations education: a survey of southern California public relations practitioners. Barbara J. Cooper, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

121 A gatekeeper study of South Dakota public high school newspapers. Robert L. Rischbach, M.S., Iowa State University.

124 A study of the attitudes of public relations professionals towards college curricula. Thomas Clark Ford, M.S., Oklahoma State University.

163 Predicting alumni giving: an analysis of alumni donors and non-donors of the College of Journalism at the University of Maryland. Kathleen S. Kelly, M.A., University of Maryland.

171 Reasons for high school students' course and career choices in journalism. Robert Victor Koziol, M.A., University of Maryland.

186 The Illinois Community College press: rights and privileges of student editors and advisers. Marlene Rae Lerner, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

226 Writing skills, reading and television: how they interact in college students. Janet Octavia Peavy, M.A., University of Texas.

234 The military and the media: a study of the Fort Hood Sentinel. Leroy Ramsey, M.S., East Texas State University.

236 California high school newspapers and the law. Patricia Ann Rasmussen, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

250 A survey of award-winning high school newspapers in Texas. Kathy K. Scattergood, M.A., North Texas State University.

255 A study of Nevada news media needs and their impact on the Department of Journalism, University of Nevada. Celia G. Scully, M.A., University of Nevada.

277 An examination of high school photography classes offered as part of the regular curriculum in Iowa, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming. Jeffrey John Stingley, M.S., South Dakota State University.

See also Abstracts 13, 66, 111, 149, 212, 264

FOREIGN PRESS & INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATION

2 A content analysis of Iranian daily newspapers before, during, and after the 1979 revolution. Naiim Badii, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

13 Toward an integrated model for assessing compliance with federal circuit court decisions: prior restraint in public schools. Thomas E. Eveslage, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

47 Consumers and consumerism in the Philippines. Jaime S. Ong, Ph.D., Stanford University.

58 The Argentine film industry: a contextual study. Jorge Alberto Schnitman, Ph.D., Stanford University.

94 Communication in Mainland China: the Yenan Period. Pao-Fang Chang, M.A., University of Iowa.

151 A comparative study of the mass media use patterns of Nigerian rural and urban populations. Clement C. Igwebike, M.A., University of Georgia.

158 The Daily Telegraph as an image resource: a semantic content analysis. Karen S. Johnson, M.S., University of Tennessee.

162 The development, role and control of national newspapers in Zambia, 1906-1975. Francis Peter Kasoma, M.A., University of Oregon.

172 Sources of agricultural information used by village level extension workers of Nepal. Narayan Kunwar, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

174 Editorial content as an indicator of press control in Kenya, 1964-1969. Seraphine Fonkar Lainjo, M.A., University of Maryland.

Abstract Number

188 Magazine propaganda of the people's Republic of China: a content analysis of Peking Review, China Pictorial, and China Reconstructs, 1969, 1974, and 1978. Lih-Kae Liang, M.A., Central Michigan University.

230 State aid and the press: a case of newspapers in two Swedish cities. Robert George Picard, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

276 Environmental policy and the press in the USSR. James Stettler, M.A., Indiana University.

283 Ownership and the developmental content of Nigerian newspapers. Patrick Utomi, M.A., Indiana University.

285 Freedom of the press and political change. The case of Jamaica and the Daily News. Ewart L. Walters, M.J., Carleton University.

See also Abstracts 12, 49, 150, 183, 187, 269

GOVERNMENT & THE PRESS (MEDIA)

10 Secrecy in political communication: aspects of an analytical framework. Dennis M. Corrigan, Ph.D., University of Illinois.

16 The 1970 postal reorganization act and second class rates: intent, effect, and response. James E. Fields, Ph.D., University of Missouri.

24 The mass media and presidential popularity 1961-1976. Timothy Robinson Haight, Ph.D., Stanford University.

76 Press self-censorship and the Bay of Pigs Invasion. Arthur H. Barlow, M.S., University of Florida.

86 The relationship between Utah Governor Scott M. Matheson and the Utah press. Deborah Anne Brombert, M.A., University of Utah.

131 The 1974 amendments to the Freedom of Information Act: legislative intent vs. executive implementation and judicial interpretation. Douglas Edward Gordon, M.A., University of Georgia.

198 Newsman's searchlight: Florida sunshine law. John P. Maittlen-Harris, M.A., University of Florida.

233 The military and the media: a study of the Fort Hood Sentinel. Leroy Ramsey, M.S., East Texas State University.

274 Freedom of information and department of agriculture policy and practice. Larry N. Steele, M.A., University of Maryland.

Abstract Number

291 Press agenda-setting and ratification of constitutional amendments. Claire Muriel Weiner, M.A., University of Maryland.

293 Political efficacy and media use, 1976 political campaigns. Karen M. White, M.A., University of Texas.

See also Abstracts 46, 58, 78, 88, 117, 168, 186, 195, 200, 230, 236, 243, 248, 256, 262, 272, 276

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

8 The content of the rural weekly press in Illinois in 1882. David R. Cassady, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

9 Start the presses: the birth of journalism in Washington territory. Barbara Lee Cloud, Ph.D., University of Washington.

31 Franklin, Jefferson and American Indians: a study in the cross-cultural communication of ideas. Bruce Elliott Johansen, Ph.D., University of Washington.

40 The electrical imagination: predicting the future of communications in Britain and the United States in the late nineteenth century. Carolyn Ann Marvin, Ph.D., University of Illinois.

46 Newspapers and new politics: municipal reform in Chicago and St. Louis, 1890-1900. David Paul Nord, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

52 The news control explanation of news making: the case of William Randolph Hearst, 1920-1940. William Quayle Parmenter, Ph.D., University of Washington.

59 The Chicago style of journalism. Norman Howard Sims, Ph.D., University of Illinois.

60 The women's suffrage press, 1850-1900: a cultural analysis. Linda Claire Steiner, Ph.D., University of Illinois.

65 The life, work and times of Walter Duranty, Moscow correspondent for the New York Times, 1921-1941. Sally Taylor, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

66 Contributions of Curtis MacDougall to journalism education. Daniel Eston Thornburgh, Ed.D., Indiana University.

81 Aubrey Sherwood of the De Smet News. Dale Blegen, M.S., South Dakota State University.

96 The journalism of Charles Dickens. Mamta Chaudhry, M.A., University of Florida.

Abstract Number

127 George Gough Booth: America's first regional chain newspaper publisher. Maria Andre Hoving Friedman, M.A., University of Maryland.

144 The birth, life and death of a Sunday supplement. Louise Williams Hermanson, M.A., University of South Carolina.

169 Ida M. Tarbell's internship: The Chautauquan, 1883-1890. Robert Charles Kochersberger, Jr., M.S., Syracuse University.

196 Celebrities and the media: a history of their relationship from 1910 to 1979. Alexander MacKie, M.A., University of Missouri.

199 An historical analysis of ethical and legal restrictions on attorney advertising as imposed by the bar and the courts. Cheryl Sue Mann, M.A., Abilene Christian University.

214 The metro press and action for children's television (ACT): how five daily newspapers reported on ACT from 1972 to 1978. John Edward Michaeli, M.A., California State University-Northridge.

225 Where is the "education" in non-commercial educational television? Warren Pease, M.A., University of Washington.

247 History of the Kendall County Record. Stephanie A. Rusnak, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

253 The Guild Reporter. Judith A. Schoolman, M.A., University of North Carolina.

289 John Sidney Thrasher. Meade Clark Warthen, M.A., University of Texas.

See also Abstracts 12, 16, 33, 36, 44, 64 78, 87, 94, 97, 106, 114, 117, 118 142, 162, 166, 211, 216, 217, 231, 245, 252, 254, 271, 272, 278, 280, 286, 296

INDUSTRIAL JOURNALISM

19 Upward communication in industrial organization: a laboratory experiment. Janet Howe Gaines, Ph.D., University of Tennessee.

MAGAZINES

1 Environmental pollution coverage in Newsweek from 1969 through 1975. William A. Babcock, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

36 Authority, promise, and expectation: the images of science and scientists in American popular magazines, 1910-1955. Marcel Evelyn Chotkowski La Follette, Ph.D., Indiana University.

Abstract Number

87 Why Life Magazine died--a focus on the original Life's last five years. Linda Susan Brooks, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

93 Depictions of men and women in Time magazine advertisements: 1923-1980. Susan Eloise Castledine, M.A., California State University-Northridge.

118 Impressions of Newport: a content analysis of the coverage of an American jazz festival in six publications between 1954 and 1978. Mitchell Evan Feldman, M.A., University of Georgia.

161 How Time stereotyped Martin Luther King, Jr. Yvonne L. Johnson, M.A., University of Maryland.

167 U.S. newsmagazine coverage of Mexico before and after major oil deposit disclosures. N. Riley Kirby, Jr., M.A., University of Florida.

173 A comparative analysis of Cosmopolitan and MS. magazines on selected article categories from July 1972 to December 1977. Barbara Labine, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

178 Periodicals of the Federated State Music Educators Associations of the Music Educators National Conference: factors influencing one aspect of content. Janet Sutherlin Lane, M.A., University of Georgia.

205 The University of Georgia's Research Reporter: a readership study of a magazine publicizing academic research. D. Elaine McEachern, M.A., University of Georgia.

227 Coverage of foreign industrial disputes in Time and Newsweek, 1966-1973. David K. Perry, M.A., University of Florida.

243 A content analysis of Newsweek, U.S. News and World Report, and Time's coverage of the 1980 presidential primaries. Steven F. Riggs, M.A., Ball State University.

See also Abstracts 92, 125, 144, 188, 192, 217, 240

MEDIA MANAGEMENT & PRODUCTION

91 Conversion of afternoon newspapers to a morning publication cycle: a survey of 17 papers that converted and attitudes of North Carolina newspapermen toward such conversions. Judy Burke, M.A., University of North Carolina.

101 Attitudes toward public relations education: a survey of Southern California public relations practitioners. Barbara J. Cooper, M.A., California State University-Fullerton.

Abstract Number

122 A study of small communications businesses in the Denver metropolitan area. Mary Ann Fitzharris, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

182 Mass media ownership in Colorado. John Franklin Leach, M.A., University of Colorado.

266 Effects of electronic editing on newspaper quality. Lester G. Sons, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

See also Abstracts 4, 28, 34, 50, 52, 56, 106, 127, 135, 144, 157, 178, 189, 195, 208, 216, 219, 238, 244, 255, 283, 285, 286, 297

MISCELLANEOUS

48 The introduction of videotaped instructional material into the curriculum of the United States Air Force Air Command and staff college associate seminar program: a comparison of educational strategies. James Scofield O'Rourke, IV, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

73 Change agent perception and client attributes as predictors of soil conservation practice adoption. Alphonsus Chijioke Anyanwu, M.S., Iowa State University.

105 The Australians in Canada. Kerry Coyle, M.A., Carleton University.

112 Older adults and the arts in Washington, D.C.: a renaissance. Lavinia Edmunds, M.A., University of North Carolina.

116 "Wolves in the United States" "On being a wolf mother". Alice Evans, M.A., Indiana University.

128 Indian Summer. Daniel E. Fryer, M.A., University of Florida.

133 Richland County farmer's perceptions of nonpoint source pollution. Kurt W. Gutknecht, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

148 Pot and populism in the bluegrass state: a one-man carnival. Michael Huber, M.A., Indiana University.

197 The Phillippine cooperative development program evaluation research: a critique and re-analysis. Jane B. Maestro-Scherer, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

224 Your children: are they accidentally safe? Florita Stubbs Payne, M.S., West Virginia University.

237 A mass communication model for wildlife conservation. Carol Lawrence Reilly, M.A., University of Nebraska.

Abstract Number

290 Keep on trucking. Mona Wasfy. M.A., University of North Carolina.

PERSONNEL & LABOR RELATIONS

106 Big business looks at labor: how major New York City dailies viewed labor unrest in the 1880's and 1890's. Barbara C. Crosby, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

See also Abstracts 18, 19, 54, 185, 219, 253, 266

PICTORIAL JOURNALISM

70 A comparison of the effect of normal developers on contrast, density, sharpness, tonal range and grain in photographic film and on density and contrast in photographic paper. William Jenson Adams, M.A., Ball State University.

92 Photographic representation of Asian Americans in Time and Newsweek magazines. Cynthia Kay Buyck, M.A., University of Minnesota.

268 Editor's attitudes and perceptions of food photographs as an educational tool. Patricia Lynne Sparks, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

272 Project documentaries in the southeast: the use of documentary photography by the Environmental Protection Agency to publicize environmental problems in the 1970's. Frank E. Stanfield, M.A., University of Georgia.

See also Abstracts 11, 78, 142, 277

PUBLIC OPINION AND PROPAGANDA

211 Societal responses to George Sylvester Viereck, German-American propagandist--1917-1920. Rene Sayoc Meily, M.A., University of Florida.

See also Abstracts 42, 94, 152, 188, 202, 239

PUBLIC RELATIONS

82 Marketing health care: case studies for chief executive officers in Illinois hospital association facilities. Alan Blitz, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

100 The influence of perceived source on message credibility in the print media: newspaper columns vs. news releases. Jeanette Dyer Coleman, M.A., University of Texas.

109 Role of the artificial insemination newsletter as a marketing communications tool. James C. Dohner, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

Abstract Number

114 The selling of a myth: Los Angeles promotional literature, 1885-1915. Judity Wilnin Elias, M.A., California State University-Northridge.

119 Role norms, implicit relationship attributions and organizational communication: a study of public relations practitioners. Mary Ann Ferguson, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

129 The wormburger scare: a case study of the McDonald's corporation's public relations campaign to stop a damaging rumor. Susan M. Goggins, M.A., University of Georgia.

130 An evaluation research proposal for a public information campaign on urban forestry management. Hernando V. Gonzalezalez, II, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

132 A study of the role and activities of the Publicity Club of Chicago. Elizabeth F. Goyak, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

136 The public relations strategy employed by the Coca-Cola Company in its re-entry into China--a case study and evaluation. Carol Hope Hanna, M.A., University of Georgia.

140 Case history of a telephone company's adjustment to new government regulations from 1968 to 1978. Janet Hayes, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

141 Factors influencing the use of press releases by business news editors. Mary Virginia Haynes, M.A., University of Texas.

146 A coorientational study of communication behavior within agricultural experiment stations. David Garrett Hill, M.A., University of Maryland.

149 Profile of public relations students. Debbie Alleyn Slack Hughes, M.S., San Jose State University.

153 Public relations practitioners: Gender as a predictor of professional orientation. Rose Lyn Jacob, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

159 A descriptive study of the soaring spirits television project for pediatric inpatients at the Texas Medical Center. Page Townsend Johnson, M.A., University of Utah.

176 Decision-making by the business elites in the post-industrial sunbelt city. Marion Anthony LaNasa, Jr., M.A., University of Texas.

Abstract Number

180 A survey of methods used to distribute internal publications. Judith Anne Larwill, M.A., University of Missouri.

185 A profile of labor unions' use of public relations today. Marilyn C. Lento, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

189 Managing for change in corporate public relations: an in-depth survey to determine public relations managerial change in one utility company. Richard T. Lind, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

190 An exploration of the relationship of alumni membership and subsequent support of Rockford College. Ellena Linsky, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

203 A study of public relations practices of the First National Bank of Fort Worth. Allen McCorstin, M.A., North Texas State University.

208 Publications policies and procedures at four-year, state-supported, member institutions of Case District V, in the United States. John R. Mecklenburg, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

213 Monitoring compliance with the community reinvestment act through the use of public relations programs. Merrie Elyn Meyers, M.A., University of Florida.

219 The effect of practitioner/employer communication on public relations role perceptions. Joel Eugene Nania, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

223 A uses and gratifications approach to employee newsletter readership. John V. Pavlik, M.A., University of Minnesota.

229 The Washington lobbyists: a self-image analysis. Thomas E.B. Phillips, M.A., University of Georgia.

235 The development and communication of a university-wide public service bureau to faculty and intended user groups. Roslyn Duncan Randall, M.A., Northern Illinois University.

246 Examination of the techniques used by Southeastern Conference sports information directors in promoting their football players for All-American honors. Michael A. Roy, M.A., University of Florida.

264 The status of public relations at Michigan's colleges and universities. Laurey Sobona, M.A., Central Michigan University.

Abstract Number

267 Research methods for measuring public relations effects. Peter Lewis Spanos, M.A., University of Florida.

270 The Balikbayan tourist promotion program of the Philippines: public relations strategy of a government under martial law. Carmela Anne L. Sta-Ana, M.A., University of Georgia.

See also Abstracts 86, 102, 108, 122, 124, 145, 163, 164, 166, 210, 214, 234, 249, 261, 262, 279

RADIO, TELEVISION & FILMS

11 A comparison of the processing consistency between television station processors and professional film laboratories as measured by density and color characteristics of VNF color control strips. Richard Verne Coup, Ed.D., Oklahoma State University.

34 A study in the use of compressed speech for the presentation of radio news. Clive J. Kinghorn, Ed.D., Oklahoma State University.

38 Motivation and children's learning from television. Guy E. Lometti, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

44 Florida and the American motion picture industry. Richard Alan Nelson, Ph.D., Florida State University.

53 The viability of cable television as a community education delivery system in a selected market, Tulsa, Oklahoma. Philip Edwin Paulin, Ed.D., Oklahoma State University.

62 The social construction of television in the public interest. Russell L. Stockard, Jr., Ph.D., Stanford University.

63 The effects of sex, age, and sex-role attitudes on television newscaster credibility: an experimental study. Susan W. Strickland, Ph.D., University of Tennessee.

64 The history of public television in the state of Utah. Norman Carlyle Tarbox, Ph.D., University of Utah.

75 Programming practices of independent television stations. Ronnie Gene Bankston, M.S., Oklahoma State University.

77 Over-commercialization: a content analysis to determine the status of Memphis radio stations. William R. Barrick, M.S.M.C., Arkansas State University.

117 National politics on commercial network television. Charles H. Fant, M.A., University of Missouri.

Abstract Number

135 The impact of computerized automation on a selected television station's business operation: broadcast industry automation system and KPTV. Jan Heesacker Hamlin, M.S., University of Utah.

168 Promises kept, promises broken--an analysis of local public affairs television programming in Los Angeles: quality, quantity and impressions. Randall Klarin, M.A., California State University-Northridge.

194 The effects of television production values on viewer acceptance and retention: a case study. Elizabeth Allyn Lowe, M.A., University of Florida.

195 News and public affairs in public television: the daily exchange feed. John Victor Luz, M.A., University of Utah.

202 A description of radio public service announcements produced by Christian groups. Charles Buell Mayes, M.A., California State University-Northridge.

204 Visual asymmetry in the early documentaries of Pare Lorentz. Robert Anthony McDonald, M.A., University of Georgia.

225 Where is the "education" in non-commercial educational television? Warren Pease, M.A., University of Washington.

231 Religious broadcasting in East Tennessee: a programming analysis of 10 religious radio stations. Stephen M. Powell, M.S., University of Tennessee.

238 Audience demand for local news programming on cable: a profile of viewing interest in Columbia, Maryland. Charles Miller Recknagel, M.A., University of Maryland.

241 The practicality of paying for added radio audience measurements in smaller markets and a test of the quarter-hour technique. Ronald S. Rich, M.A., University of Florida.

254 An analysis of D. W. Griffith's portrayal of black characters in the "Birth of a Nation". Ronald Brunson Scott, M.S., University of Utah.

279 A review of electric power transmission issues. Allyn C. Svoboda, M.S., Iowa State University.

280 A descriptive study of television networks in Kansas with special attention to their satellites. Thomas David Tadtman, M.A., Kansas State University.

286 The history of the development of CBS News and its commentators, 1927-1948. Kuo-Ju Betty Wang, M.A., University of Georgia.

See also Abstracts 24, 58, 84, 104, 110, 111, 115, 124, 134, 175, 192, 193, 214, 218, 226, 232, 239, 244, 245, 257, 265, 282, 293, 295, 300

RESEARCH METHODS

68 A comparison of the susceptibility of black versus white respondents to race-of-interviewer effects on racial and nonracial questions in both personal and self-administered questionnaire interviewing situations. Jon Paullin Wardrip, Ph.D., University of Texas.

84 Evaluating closed circuit internal information television programming in the U.S. Navy. Ingrid Ann Bowers, M.A., University of Maryland.

179 Demographic characteristics as predictors of response and nonresponse to a mailed questionnaire. Alison Joan Lapetina, M.A., University of Maryland.

See Also Abstracts 70, 71, 80, 101, 107, 177, 184, 191, 205, 267, 273, 294

SPECIAL MINORITIES

97 Emerging media: a history and analysis of Chicano communication efforts in Washington State. Ramon Chavez, M.A., University of Washington.

134 A survey of black television newswomen's opinions on their "double minority" status. Nora D. Hall, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

139 Two for one stone: the hiring of and attitudes toward black women in television journalism. Anne E. Harte, M.A., Central Missouri State University.

157 The Chapel Hill Journal: a blueprint for journalistic activism. Allen Herbert Johnson, III, M.A., University of North Carolina.

16 Press, politics and principals: an analysis of the Associated Negro Press' content and director--1928-1948. William E. Ketchum, Jr., M.A., University of Wisconsin.

183 The media habits of Korean-Americans in the Los Angeles area. Dongshin Lee, M.A., California State University-Northridge.

191 The use of focus group interviews in ascertaining media preferences of 18 to 34 year-old Miami Hispanics. Maria Elena Llansa, M.A., University of Florida.

192 The Wisconsin radio reading service: an assessment of its role in providing news and information to Wisconsin's print-handicapped population. Mary Ellen Loberger, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

Abstract Number

210 Status of blacks in U.S. public relations. Vurnetta Gethoria Meek, M.A., East Texas State University.

217 Female images in women's and general interest magazine advertising, 1905-1970: a content analysis. Sheila Hogan Mulcahy, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

245 Alex Haley and Roots: an overview and assessment of his contributions as a black journalist, historian and author. Valerie L. Roberts, M.A., San Jose State University.

288 Goals of black newspaper editors, 1827-65, as expressed in early editorials. Leslie Blanchard Ware, M.A., University of North Carolina.

295 Rural women and the mass media. Eileen Wirth, M.A., University of Nebraska.

296 Newspaper coverage of the women's suffrage movement in South Dakota at the time of statehood. Ceceilia Mae Wittmayer, M.S., South Dakota State University.

See also Abstracts 60, 62, 68, 92, 93, 138, 161, 162, 169, 173, 251, 254

TYPOGRAPHY & GRAPHIC ARTS

240 Content analysis of design elements in the employee publication: toward a stimulus-response theory of internal publication readership. Phillip Anthony Reidinger, M.A., University of Georgia.

281 The fish that couldn't swim: a study of the effects of context in communication. David L. Tank, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

See also Abstracts 11, 144, 208

VISUAL COMMUNICATION

78 U.S. forest service photography: the Ozark national forest photographic collection and the work of James Maurice Wait. Sharon W. Bass, M.A., University of Texas.

111 An evaluation of information self-teaching centers of selected South Dakota cooperative extension service county offices. Mark Kevin Eclov, M.S., South Dakota State University.

142 The exhibition of photography in American art museums: a history and survey. Robert Bruce Heller, M.A., Syracuse University.

Abstract
Number

160 A video introduction to orthodontics: goals and realistic expectations. Patrick W. Johnson, M.A., University of Florida.

193 The effect of sensory modality in verbal coding upon pictorial recognition and verbal recall. John Frederick Long, M.A., University of Utah.

262 The communication impact of anti-alcoholism public service posters. John Edward Small, Jr., M.A., University of Maryland.

278 Poison penmanship: a study of six Pulitzer Prize-winning editorial cartoonists. Lee Charles Stuart, M.S., University of Kansas.

See also Abstracts 11, 70, 92, 204, 222, 226, 254, 268, 272, 277, 281